Assessment
Robert is a great designer and can create good PHP scripts. Robert is also a great researcher and gives much thought on a given problem to solve it effectively. He has a background as a graphic artist so he'll be a great asset also as a layout artist.

IQ Test Result: 109 - Inventive Inquisitor

You have the unusual talent of being equally good at both mathematical and verbal skills. That, paired with your thirst to learn through experience, makes you an Inventive Inquisitor.

Team Roles Result: 83 – Coordinator

According to your score you seem to naturally gravitate towards the role of Coordinator in a group. This means that you like to organize tasks, assign them, and keep tabs on the teamwork being accomplished.

Coordinators are the people who keep precise notes, know exactly where the project is at any given point in time and call status meetings when needed. Being analytical organizers, Coordinators clarify goals, remove ambiguity from complex and difficult tasks, and hand out "to-do" lists or deadlines to team members. Highly structured, mature and confident, Coordinators juggle priorities, keep track of the chronological order of task execution, tasks division and various assignments, and ensure the availability of resources - human, material or informational - when organizing a project. In short, good delegation skills and a keen sense of justice allow these indispensable team members to coordinate all efforts and implement decisions.
